About This Tour

Your day starts with a morning pickup from your Eilat hotel at 07:15 (or the airport at 07:40 if you're arriving the same day). The air-conditioned coach heads north to the Arava border crossing, where our local representatives meet you and guide you through visa and passport formalities — typically about one hour, handled start to finish. Have your passport ready, and note that border fees of $125 per person (or $65 with a valid visa stamp) must be paid in cash — USD, EUR, or NIS accepted. Once across, the Desert Highway carries you south through Jordan's open landscape for about 2.5 hours. This route reveals the terrain that the Nabatean civilization once commanded — wide valleys and rocky plateaus that set the stage for what comes next. You enter Petra through the Siq, a natural passage of layered sandstone walls rising dozens of meters overhead. Walk it or ride a horse — the choice is yours. At its end, the Treasury (Al-Khazneh) comes into view: a facade carved directly from the cliff face, its columns, pediments, and central urn intact since the 1st century BCE. The urn, standing 3.35 meters high, was long believed to hold hidden treasure — hence the name. You then have 3–4 hours to explore the site on your own. Follow the path past the Djinn Blocks and the Obelisk Tomb to the Nabatean Theater, cut from the rock to hold 2,000 spectators. Continue to the Royal Tombs — the P
